"Peaky Blinders: The King's Ransom is a humorous and unique adventure experience that combines stealth gameplay, puzzlements, and visual puzzles." Indie Vice About The Game: "The King's Ransom is a fun and imaginative adventure-packed stealth adventure with visual puzzles set within a world inspired by the 1980's." Gamesbookers About The Game: "The King's Ransom combines an absurd puzzle and stealth puzzle, mixing the visually-focused genre of puzzle games with the classic stealth genre." Game Access About The Game: "The King's Ransom features over 50 levels that re-imagine classic stealth gameplay with a unique visual puzzle that will keep players hooked." Wonderfulgamer About The Game: "The King's Ransom sports a unique visual puzzle gameplay that ties in perfectly with the more classic stealth aspects" Games Audio About The Game: "Witcher's Pankhurst is a 2016 platform game developed by Marlborough House, that updates the classic roguelike crawler experience to a two-dimensional world where each player has a different goal to accomplish." Polygon About The Game: "Witcher's Pankhurst is the first true two-dimensional exploration-based roguelike where the map is procedurally generated, players can use all of the items and weapons they find from previous playthroughs, and there's a huge variety of randomly generated environments to explore." GameRant About The Game: "Witcher's Pankhurst is a roguelike currently in development at indie developer Marlborough House. It has now entered alpha testing, and you can find more information in its official website. However, be advised that the game is set to be on Early Access for quite some time." GameSpy About The Game: "Witcher's Pankhurst is a two-dimensional exploration-based roguelike where players can use a number of items and weapons from the previous playthroughs of the game to survive the new one." Interviews Funnily enough, I was on vacation when I wrote the article above. Not a bad way to escape reality, I guess. So that's why my first interview has to be one of my all time favorite, no matter when I wrote it. This is the d41b202975

! Peaky Blinders: The King's Ransom! is a 2019 British-American historical-fantasy-adventure crime film that was directed by Kevin Macdonald and written by Steven Knight, based on the novels Caper of the Blind King by C.J. Koch and The Blind Man's Parsley by Hubert Cornfield. It is the third feature film by British producer Christian Cooke with BAFTA-winning costume designer Kathleen Monk, whose previous film, Steve McQueen's The Man Who Killed Gatsby, won the Academy Award for Best Costume Design in 2015. The film stars Tom Hardy, Cillian Murphy, Helen McCrory, Paul Anderson, Sam Riley, and Mia Wasikowska with characterizations by Tom Hollander, Topher Grace, James Purefoy, Clive Owen, and Daniel Kaluuya. The film premiered in the city of Belfast at the BFI IMAX in December 2019, followed by its premiere in theaters and select IMAX venues in the United Kingdom on 2 April 2020, and in the United States on 6 April 2020. It is a spin-off of the BBC Northern Ireland television series Peaky Blinders, and is a joint production between Broadchurch and Peaky Blinders' production team, Whitechapel. Plot In 1980s England, Franky Noland, the owner of the Caledonian club in the Shankill, Belfast, hopes to make more money by offering illegal gambling to the club's customers. As night is about to fall, Otto MacQueen washes his hands in the lavatory and accidentally kills the Irishman using a metal bar lid as a weapon. The elderly Lady Lucan enters the club, announcing her intention to marry the club's owner Arthur Darwell. In 1914, a Firth of Forth cargo ship, SS Castor, is scuttled by HMS Hibernian with a cargo of general cargo in an attempt to destroy enemy Zeppelin airship bases. Among the crew are hijackers Turpin and King who kidnap a German officer named Gundolf, killing an artillery man who tried to rescue him. Turpin and King take Gundolf to the Castor, which they seek to sell to another ship, the Maison de l'archiduc, and surrender to the British. When they are taken into the German base station, they are castigated by Oberst Leutnant Gruber, head of intelligence. He finds that the radio works, the plan to attack the
